Dear WY-WSF Members: As the snow continues to fly, cabin fever is starting to set in. I had a successful ice fishing weekend with my family, so a little fresh air helped. I hope the Wyoming wild sheep family is enjoying winter, as well.

Your Board has been working hard on our May 30-31 convention in Casper. We have gathered some great hunting and fishing trips including a Wyoming Governor's Bighorn Sheep tag, a Desert Bighorn tag/hunt, 2014 WY Commissioner license, several tropical vacations, and much more! We have made a great push to try to get our youth to attend the banquet. Each youth in attendance receives a great gift from the chapter along with learning more about conservation and the great legacy of WY-WSF. Please consider attending the Life Member breakfast (Life Members Only), Ladies Luncheon, seminars, and banquet on May 31st. The Ladies Luncheon is a great time and the talk of the town.

Recent Board highlights: Great winter meeting in Wheatland (thanks to Ryan and Cindy Admundson!), added a Kids Corner to the Rampage, sponsoring Youth Program event in May 2014 in Casper, Board members attended/worked the WSF sheep show in Reno, worked with WGFD on upcoming BHS transplants around Wyoming, disease testing in Sybille research lab, reception for Governor and Legislature, on and on. We're working hard for Wyoming's bighorn sheep!

We would like to have a lot of rams (from WY or elsewhere, mounted or on skull plate) in the room for display. Everyone who brings a ram for display will have their name entered into a drawing for a WY-WSF Life Membership (value $500); if the winner drawn is already a Life Member, they may give that complimentary Life Membership to someone else. Ram heads will be monitored and secured at the Parkway Plaza.

As the Board continues to grow your chapter, we encourage membership participation. Whatever your involvement, we need and appreciate it. Please consider running for the board, buying raffle tickets, stretching a little more on a donation, or attending our banquet. Wyoming's bighorn sheep continue to need our help.

The WY-WSF Endowment is a great option for estate planning and giving. Please consider naming WY-WSF in your estate plan through a specific bequest or gift in your wills and trusts. Contact me with your questions.

The chapter needs your help to be successful. We look forward to seeing you and YOUR FAMILY in Casper on May 31st. Thank you for an amazing year in 2013 for Wyoming Bighorns!

Sincerely, Michael J. Porter (Life Member #323) WY-WSF President

WY-WSF Executive Director's Message

Greetings to all our members! While Wyoming struggled through another long, cold winter, I managed (along w/ my son Kyle [Life Member #105], and Gray Thornton [Life Member #342]) to steal away in mid-February for a desert BHS hunt in southern Baja. After 5 days of hard hiking & hunting in 90-95 degree sunshine (quite a contrast to cold, snowy WYO!), I was able to connect on a mature, broomed-off, 9+ year old Baja ram. This ram came as a result of 33+ years of hard work and good fortune, and was my 4th North American wild ram. I cannot begin to say how grateful I am to the entire FNAWS/WSF network, for all the help and opportunity I've been fortunate to receive over that timespan. I love wild sheep, I love wild sheep conservation, and I love wild sheep conservationists/hunters!! Thank you all. Special thanks to my son Kyle for being right there with me on 3 of the 4 ram hunts. Priceless!!

The WY-WSF Board and other great volunteers are busy preparing for our 2014 convention. We're in the midst of developing/offering an on-line, web-based convention registration, but we're not quite there yet. Until we can get all the bugs worked out, please refer to and mail in the "paper" registration form on page 12 of this newsletter. Please help us in our planning efforts by registering early! Think about a Full Curl Table, with all its benefits. And remember, please bring a friend, bring a youth, or bring both! See you all in Casper at the end of May!!

Executive Director Kevin Hurley (Life Member #20)

WYOMING WILD SHEEP FOUNDATION

2013 WY-WSF Winter Meeting & Tour of WGFD Thorne-Williams (Sybille) Facility, Wheatland, WY

Thanks to the Wyoming Game & Fish Department Vet Services & Sybille Unit folks for a great, “behind-the-scenes” tour of the WGFD Thorne-Williams Unit, and the quality research being done on bighorn sheep, elk, moose, and other Wyoming wildlife! Hank, Mary, Cole, Sam, Matt, Ryan, Martin: keep up your good work! Wyoming WSF is proud to be assisting the WGFD with their important, ongoing wildlife research!

We got a very special, close-up look at projects and critters that WY-WSF has helped funding for; too bad if you missed the tour!

Special thanks to Ryan & Cindy Amundson, and their son Drake, for all the planning, effort, and assistance with the WY-WSF Winter Meeting at the Platte County 4-H Building! A great catered meal was enjoyed by all, and more $ were raised for WY BHS!!

Wyoming WSF 2013 Full Curl Table Purchasers

Businesses and individuals listed on the opposite page (if logos were available) made significant investments for Wyoming's bighorn sheep by purchasing a "Full Curl" table for 8 attendees at our June 1, 2013 banquet in Casper. We thank them for their support, and invite others who might be interested in a Full Curl table for our 2014 fundraising banquet to please contact President Mike Porter, Executive Director Kevin Hurley, or any WY-WSF Board Member. We appreciate your outstanding support, and look forward to another great banquet/fundraiser on May 31st!!

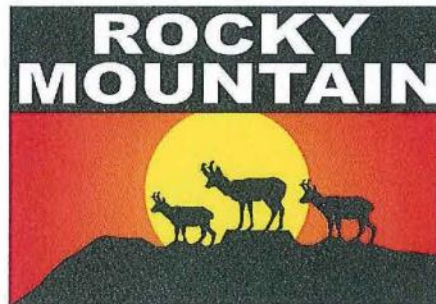

Please review the description of our 2014 Full Curl Tables in the convention/fundraiser announcement on page 10. What a great way for your business or a group of individuals to show their commitment and support to Wyoming's bighorn sheep. And, have a chance at winning a special, "Full Curl Table"-only drawing for a firearm! See you there!!

Section 4(A)(ii) of the current WY-WSF ByLaws, approved by the membership on June 2, 2012 in Casper, reads:

ii) If the number of nominations is equal to or less than the number of Board positions to be filled, the Board may forgo a ballot election in lieu of a membership vote of acclimation at the first annual membership meeting.

Given that 5 current Board members (Mike Porter, Joni Miller, Meade Dominick, Dan Hinz, Steve Kilpatrick) each have terms expiring in June 2014, and given there were less than 6 nominations/applications received by press deadline for this issue of The Rampage, an election/acclimation for WY-WSF Directors will be held during the Saturday May 31, 2014 Business/Membership meeting at the Parkway Plaza in Casper. No ballot is included in this Spring 2014 Rampage.

Notice to WY-WSF Members: per the June 1, 2012 membership meeting discussion, a copy of the draft minutes of the Membership meeting may be accessed/reviewed from the WY-WSF website <http://www.wyomingwildsheep.org>, under the "Membership" tab. Please review these minutes prior to the May 31st membership meeting in Casper, where the December 7, 2013 membership meeting minutes will be up for approval. Thanks!

Late October found Corey Fischer and myself hunting for rams in the North Absaroka Wilderness in Wyoming. Snows earlier that month made conditions excellent. We were finding rams bedded on south-facing slopes where strong winds had cleared the snow. On one of our rides, we were glassing as many drainages as time would allow. Stopping to glass, we were able to make out the forms of three sheep grazing in a basin about two miles away. Corey thought they were worth a better look, but we needed to wait until the next day and come in from a different trail.

Next morning, we were up early and on the trail, hoping the rams had not moved overnight. What we found were two full-curl rams and a younger 3/4 curl. We tied the horses, and took everything non-essential out of our packs. It was mid-afternoon when we finally were in shooting distance. Corey thought the ram flared out was the best of the two, but it was bedded behind some dwarfed pines. We hadn't stopped to eat our lunches that day, so we ate as we waited for the rams to get up and feed. I think I was almost finished with my sandwich when Corey informed me the rams were up and feeding. My first shot was a miss, but the next two connected. I remember walking up on the ram thinking what a magnificent animal he was, admiring the wild and majestic country they inhabit.

The story would normally end here, but it doesn't. After taking pictures, we caped the ram, then boned it out. Our packs were loaded and we headed out, just as the sun was setting. After a couple of close encounters with the steep terrain and loose footing, we decided to find a place to wait out the night. We took turns feeding the fire, and each managed to get a little sleep. We were up and headed back to the horses as it got light. It took us four hours to get to the horses, and when we arrived, we were met by Mickie, Lane and John. They knew we had a sheep, but when we didn't make it back the night before, they got a little worried.

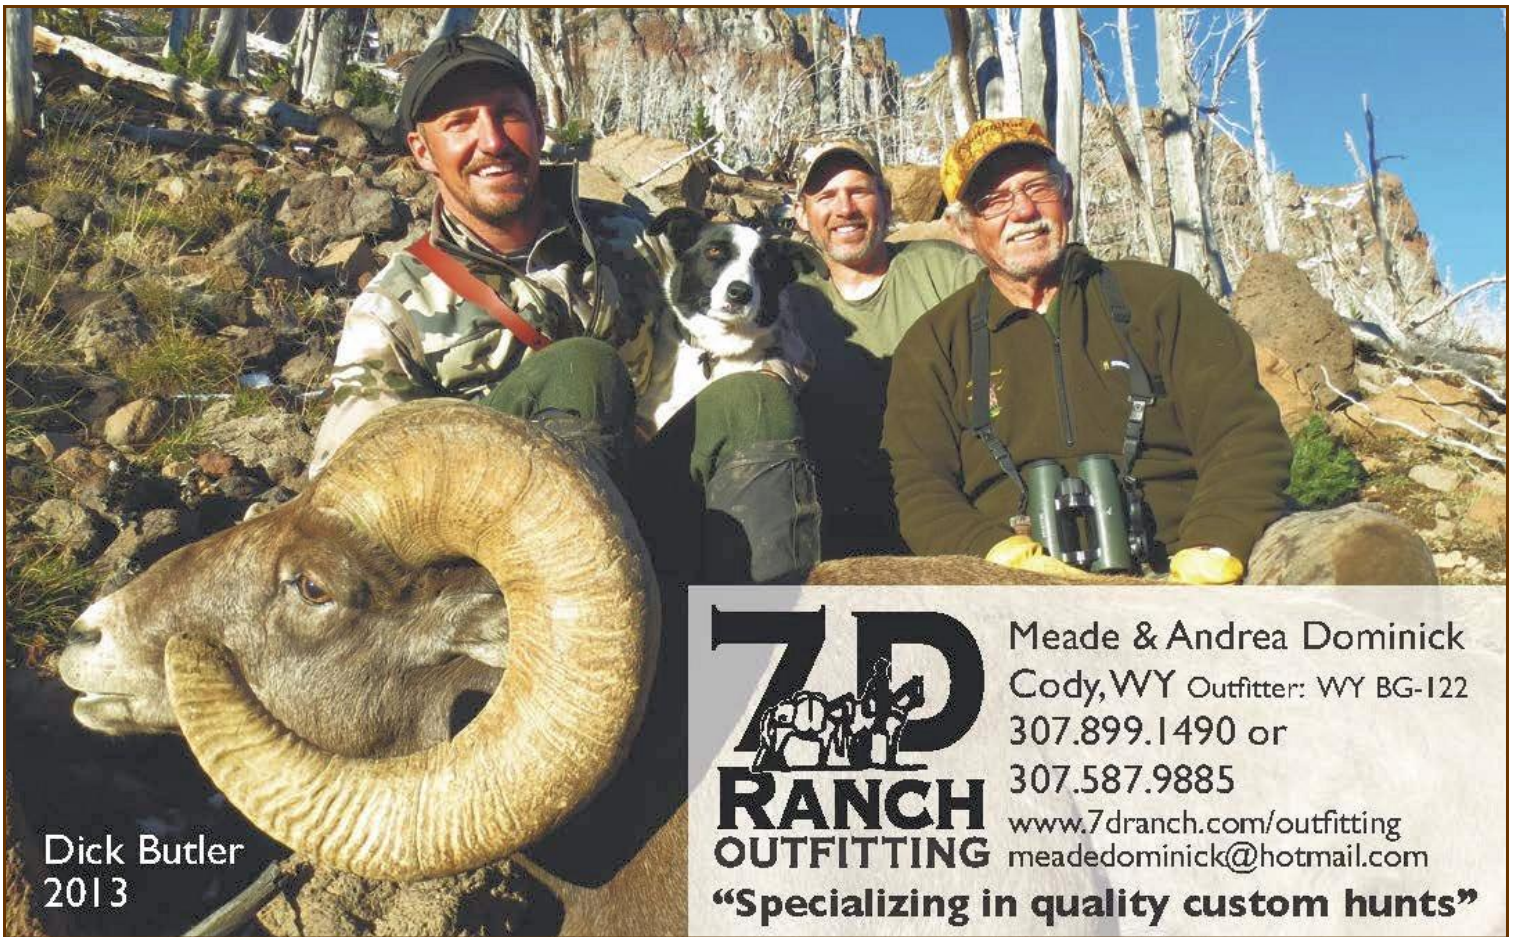

I'll remember this hunt for a long time, and the great job that Corey and the rest of the crew at Crandall Creek Outfitters did. Corey green scored the ram at 180 5/8, with 39 inches in length and 15 2/8 inch bases. What a hunt!

2013 Hunt Area 3 Ram - Suzi Dunning, Encampment, WY

The rain changed from a trickle to a downpour as we approached the sheep from below. A good sight picture was a definite concern, as the timber was so thick. But, after a few of hours of waiting the rain out, and with the help of my guide Meade Dominick, his cousin Ward, and my husband Mark, I was able to get on the bighorn ram we had located the day before; I had to find a shooting lane through the timber.

The steep shot that I eventually made was difficult because of the steep uphill angle. I had learned the previous summer about distance, projection and velocity of how a bullet travels. My ram was approximately 296 yards straight uphill, and I set my rifle for 250 yards to take the shot. The rain had now stopped, and the ram had bedded down; that was good for me. As I prepared to make my shot, Mark told me to dry fire; this did the trick for me, and it helped me get my mind in the zone and forget about muscle fatigue and jitters.

I made the shot, and I heard Ward say “he's down”; immediately afterward, Meade & Mark said the same thing. It was an exhilarating experience, first to be able to draw a tag and second, to actually harvest a ram! Now the real work began to get the sheep off the mountain, and to do it quickly enough to not interrupt any grizzlies. Luckily, the wind was in our favor; we saw a huge boar grizzly that morning on the way to the sheep. Fascinating he was to look at, but not to encounter. As we were about to leave the mountain and descend down to our horses and mules, Meade buried the ram's heart, and said a prayer of thanks.

On our ride back to camp, I reflected about my preparation and excitement to get ready for a hunt like this. It all seemed very surreal now. After getting over the initial shock of drawing a tag like this, I knew I had to get serious about getting into sheep shape, so I started leaving the house before dawn every morning to hike up foothills and mountains around the ranch, and tried to make it as difficult as I could by adding squats and pushups. I also was advised on certain challenging exercise tapes. The only thing I had going for me was years of horse experience; I rode as much or even more than I normally would, and everything paid off.

The thing I worked on even more was getting my gun. With Mark being a gun enthusiast/educator, I needed to find the right rifle to fit me. It had been 15 years since I harvested a big game animal, and since then, I'd only use a shotgun for sporting clays and bird hunting. So I really had to focus on getting comfortable with just the right gun. I give a lot a credit to a friend who was an ex-Marine with sniper training. He drilled me out at our ranch's new shooting range. He worked with me on how to block out outside/inside noises, and to find a focus/calm spot. It was a great experience to have this kind of help.

I had such a great team with my guide Meade Dominick, his cousin Ward and my husband Mark. I have a lot to be thankful for, and I felt extremely blessed to have these guys with me, to make my bighorn sheep hunt so very special. I just wish I could have told my father and mother; they would have been so ecstatic! Somehow, I think they might know....

A Bear Story Within a Bear Story (Kurt Eisenach, Bighorn, WY)

Spring 2013 had arrived, and with it, a new ranch to hunt. My close friend Chris manages a ranch in the Bighorn area. This year, the owner bought a neighboring property, and we had ourselves a place to bait bears. This new spot had not been bear hunted in years as far as we could tell, and hopes were high for a giant black bear. The season started off pretty well, but we were only seeing sows and cubs at the bait. Trail cameras showed lions, moose, deer, elk, and several small bears. It was a great time checking the trail cameras and hunting shed antlers, but no big bears. Somewhat frustrated with our results so far, I consulted with a friend and he assured me the wait would soon pay off; with all the sows around, a big boar will show up. Boy was he right! After several weeks of small bears, a massive black boar moved in. He was only coming in at night as you would expect, but we stayed hopeful that he would make a mistake. We finally saw him one evening coming out in a meadow about 600 yards above the bait, too far to shoot but at least he was out in the daylight. I could not hunt the next day with Chris, so he sat in the ground blind by himself. All day at work I wondered if the boar would show. It turns out he did, but Chris clipped a branch we should have trimmed and missed the giant. He was sick, and we figured the boar would not be back soon. For the next week there was no sign of him on the trail cameras, and Chris had a spring grizzly hunt to go on. However, he was very kind and agreed to let my son Calvin hunt the bait, as he was home from college.

First night at the bait Calvin, my other son Joseph and I squeezed into the ground blind. We were entertained by watching elk on the meadows above the bait, and a sow with her cubs. The cubs were wrestling in a big tree above the bait; it was very amusing, but still no big bears. The next night I had to work and Joe was busy, so Calvin went by himself. After he got into the ground blind he set up the video camera, and set back to wait. I was at work but had a few free minutes so I called Calvin on the phone. He answered, but could hardly talk. Only 10 minutes after he set up, a beautiful reddish brown boar we had not seen before came in, and just as quickly tried to leave. Calvin had enough presence of mind to start the video camera and get on the bear for a shot. His 280 Remington with 140 grain AccuBonds dropped the boar in his tracks. He had just pulled the trigger when I called! After regaining his composure, he filled me in and then called a friend to help him get the bear out. I was sad that I could not be with him on this hunt, but the video is great and almost as good as being there. Calvin's bear was aged at 13 years old, 6+ ft. high, 18 5/16" skull, and very fat for a spring bear. The meat was excellent and we made breakfast sausage and cube steak with most of it.

When he checked the bear in with WGF D they found a tattoo on his lip. After the Department checked the tattoo #, we were told this bear had been trapped as a 3 year old near Sundance for raiding beehives. He was transported to Cody, and released on the upper South Fork of the Shoshone River. In 9 years, this bear had traveled from above Cody, across the Bighorn Basin, over the Bighorn Mountains, and ended up near Bighorn, WY. I guess he was headed home to Sundance!

A friend who baits nearby even gave us a picture of this boar with 2 ear tags from the year before at his bait. The tags were gone, but you can tell it is the same bear. And as if that wasn't enough of a story, when we checked the trail camera, the big black boar Chris missed was at the bait with a sow 25 minutes before Calvin got there. He is still out there, and you can be sure we are going to try for him again. All in all, we couldn't have asked for a better bear season.

I can only say thank you for the opportunity to hunt a desert ram in southern Baja. Thank you to Ty Miller of El Fuerte Outfitters. To the “sheep-whisperer” Jose Aguiar, a legend in Baja. To Andres, Oliverio, and Alejandro, from Ejido LFA #2. To Dean Roe from British Columbia. To Cole Kramer of Kodiak, Alaska, for all the amazing photos & video you captured. To my good friend and boss Gray Thornton. And to my son Kyle, who hiked with me every step of the way in Alaska in 2011, in the Yukon in 2012, and again in Baja in 2014. Having you next to me the last three times meant so much to me. I know you were only 6 when I got a Wyoming ram in 1997; you had a good excuse on that one!

FNAWS, Four North American Wild Sheep. It took me 17 years from when I began this dream. And only 33 years from when I started in the wild sheep world. Slow and steady wins, I guess. Gracias to all who helped me along this incredible path. Kevin Hurley, Cody, WY
